RPM COMPOSITES

REV-XP High Coverage Hand Guard

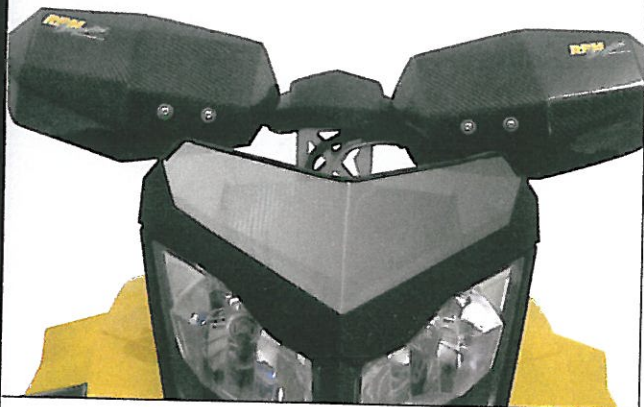

Get big-windshield hand protection on your Ski-Doo REV-XP without the big, ugly windshield. RPM Composites has new High Coverage Hand Guards with a geometric, modern shape to match the chassis' modern styling.

Constructed of carbon fiber, Kevlar and woven fiberglass, the hand guards are designed to absorb impact and protect the hands and body from wind, roost and tree branches. They have a gloss finish and measure 18.5 by 11.5 inches.

Each Hand Guard is equipped with a machined aluminum bracket system fastened with stainless steel hardware, and the mount has horizontal adjustments to customize the fit. The hand guards retail for $259; kits are available without brackets for $159. Order from the company's website.

FETT BROTHERS PERFORMANCE

Ride Tech Air Canister

Smooth out the performance of your Fox FLOAT shocks with Fett's new Ride Tech Air Canister. Increased air capacity in the Fox air shocks makes shock action linear for more comfort over stutter bumps while still being able to absorb hits from the big bumps.

The Air Canister is designed to be simple and effective without knobs, screws or guesswork; there's no external adjustability. The compact design stays out of trouble and gives a cool look.

Air Canisters are easy to install and use the stock air pump to set and adjust air spring pressure. A set sells for $89.99. Order directly from Fett Brothers Performance.

SLED DOGS LLC

Buddy Tow

The Buddy Tow is a sheet of slick, tough, high-molecular weight plastic that attaches to the track of a broken snowmobile with three bungee straps and hooks. Two sizes are available.

With a Buddy Tow, it's not necessary to remove the drive belt to tow a broken sled and it works even if the track is locked up. Hook it to the tow sled and the machine glides with less effort to reduce wear and tear. The Buddy Tow comes rolled in a small 16- by 4-inch package.

Available from Sled Dogs LLC of North Dakota, the Pro (fits any mountain sled and includes plastic runners to minimize fishtailing) sells for $64.95 and the Lite (fits short-track sleds, does not include runners) costs $44.95. A combo kit includes a Pro model and a 4-point tow kit for $76.95.

SCOTT USA

Voltage ProAir Snow Goggle

Scott USA's Voltage ProAir Snow Goggle is built with snow-specific materials to promote clear vision for snowmobiling. The AMP

Rose lens filters light to highlight terrain contrasts and Winter Seal vent foam keeps fine snow dust from entering the goggle interior. The oversized face foam protects skin from wind chill. Available black, white, red, blue and yellow, the Voltage ProAir retails for $69.95 at many snowmobile dealers.
